Annual Meeting Alberta Athletic Body Here in '31

The annual meeting of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, was held in Medicine Hat on Monday, with delegates in attendance from all parts of the province. The Wetaskiwin Sports Association was represented by B. W. Bellamy. The agenda was a lengthy one, and discussion, animated at various intervals, adjournment being made late in the evening. Communications from the Wetaskiwin Sports Association, the City Council, and a telegram from Mayor Howatt extended an invitation for the organization to hold its meeting in Wetaskiwin next year, which was unanimously accepted with a display of much enthusiasm.

President C. H. Croft of Edmonton, was re-elected, but there were several changes made in the personnel of the Executive. Mr. Bellamy, of this city, who had previously served two terms as president, was unanimously elected as secretary-treasurer. He was selected also as one of Alberta's governors on the Dominion body, and also selected as a delegate from this province to the national convention to be held in Vancouver in November.

Mr. George Beary was selected as the representative of the local Sports Association on the Board of Governors of the Alberta Branch. While definite award of provincial championship track and field meet sanctions was not made, being referred to the incoming Executive, it was practically assured that either the senior, junior or women's and girls' meet would be held in Wetaskiwin next year.

JERSEY BREEDERS VISIT DIDSBURY

C. D. Enman, who is the president of the Alberta Jersey Breeders' Association, in company with Philip Fleming, Jersey field man for Western Canada, recently visited the Didsbury Jersey Farms at Didsbury. Here they looked over the largest herd of American type pure-bred Jersey cows and heifers to be found in Alberta.

Edgar Dumy of Chilliwack, B.C., who is a director of Jersey Cattle Club of Canada, was spending some time at the Didsbury Jersey Farms. He returned to Wetaskiwin and has been calling on some of the Jersey breeders here.

One of the Wetaskiwin farmers who had purchased Jersey cows had the spotlight of publicity turned on him recently when he succeeded in producing butterfat with his three Jerseys for a feed cost of only 54¢ a pound. This is considered to be remarkable by many.

WOMAN KILLED IN CAR SMASH NEAR CARDSTON

Lethbridge, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Herman Hollander, 1084 Fulton street, San Francisco, was almost instantly killed Monday afternoon near Cardston when the car in which she was riding overturned. A flat tire was the cause of the accident.

CANADA'S NET DEBT IS DOWN $4,000,000 FROM TOTAL IN 1929

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—The total net debt of Canada on August 31 was $2,144,886,433.93, a reduction of about $4,000,000 from the figure of $2,148,702,433.93 a year ago. These figures, made available in the current issue of the Canada Gazette, do not take credit for non-active assets.

The total funded debt on August 31, before subtracting $442,190,353.32 in non-active assets, amounted to $2,587,076,787.25. This is a reduction of more than $57,000,000 from the comparative figure of $2,644,422,663.64 at the same date in 1929. Of the funded debt, of $1,807,112,033.52 is payable in Canada, $311,668,136.39 in London and $165,916,500.00 in New York.

Taxes collected by the Dominion Government up to the figure of August amounted to $155,771,423.34, a pronounced decrease as compared with $192,645,454.62 figures for the same period in 1929. After adding Post Office and other revenues, including special receipts and credits on the consolidated fund, the total receipts for the period under review amounted to $157,980,387.

The grand total of expenditures amounted to $155,076,772.33 as against $147,557,626.22 up to August 31, 1929. The total of ordinary expenditure was $142,386,752.23 as compared with $135,639,792.23. Besides ordinary expenditures, the grand total includes payments for adjustments of war claims, public works, railways and canals, and various non-active loans and advances to the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and the Quebec Harbor Commission.

CAREFUL STOWAWAY COMPLETES JOURNEY BUT GOES TO PRISON

Liverpool, Sept. 16.—A completely outfitted stowaway, who had been in the hold of a ship for a week, was taken to the Liverpool police court here Monday when Henry Edwin Bradshaw, aged 32, described as a Bristol analyst, pleaded guilty to stowing away on the White Star liner Doric, on its voyage from Montreal to Liverpool.

Bradshaw was sent to jail for a fortnight. He was found by members of the ship's crew in a lifeboat, with food sufficient for a week, blankets, and even a stove and fuel to provide hot meals.

"I left for Canada two years ago," he said, "but I couldn't get on with the farmers."

POSTAL SURVEYOR FORECAST REVOLT OF UNITED STATES

Washington, September 15 (Special to The Times).—In 1973 Hugh Finlay, surveyor of the Posts, made a journey from Quebec to Savannah, Ga., and visited all the principal post offices of that day. His confidential diary has just been found and has been presented to the post office department.

At the time of Mr. Finlay's journey the Postal Service was being tossed to the eddies of the approaching Revolutionary War; the colonists were fighting every feature of its control by England; but even in the confusion of the period the fine traditions of the service were crystallized.

The story runs as follows: Turning back the meter of the 157 years, as the morning mists rise from the St. Lawrence River, below the heights of Quebec, a party of three white men and eight Indians embarked for a journey in five filthy birch bark canoes. Their object was to bias a post route through the wilds of Maine to Boston town in the "Province of Massachusetts." That there is no road worthy of the name along the route, even to this day, is a tribute to the pioneer spirit of these early adventurers.

This tribute goes to the Postal Service, for the leader was Hugh Finlay, Deputy Postmaster General of Canada, who was the first to go to Benjamin Franklin, one of the deputy postmasters general of the Colonies. Finlay, on the morning of September 13th, 1773, was setting out on a most interesting journey. Besides prospecting a new trail he was under orders to make a survey of the post routes and post offices of the 13 American colonies. His route lay along the only real highway in the American colonies. After reaching the first settlements in Maine he made his way to Falmouth, on to Boston and New York, arriving in Philadelphia on Dec. 9. Shipping to Charleston, S.C., he rode to Savannah, Ga., and then made his way over boggy trails northward to Norfolk, Va.

"We unloaded our canoes," says the writer in speaking of his journey from Maine to Casco Bay, "lifted them out of the water and carried them and our provision above the fall, made a slow fire and set the canoes to dry at a distance from it; then we made a wigwam or hut of branches, open in front; the floor of our wigwam was laid with tender sprigs of the aromatic spruce tree which makes a soft, comfortable bed. After supper each man wraps himself in his blanket, lays himself down on his spruce bed with his feet to the fire and passes the night in sound and refreshing sleep. We rise with the sun, pitch our canoes, load them and leave the encampment. We found trout, duck and partridges everywhere."

Arriving in the colonies the surveyor found the seeds of revolt sprouting everywhere. Anything that represented the English government, the Colonies were ready to resist. His Majesty's post, much to the concern of His Majesty's trusted servant was to be destroyed. "They are, they say, to be governed by laws of their own framing and no other," he wrote. There is the revolution in a sentence. It was the particular delight of the Colonists to give their letters and payment for transmission to the rider, ignoring the monopoly His Majesty George II. claimed for the post. Drivers on the stages would be the letters and it was declared by Finlay to be the "most important step to stop this practice in the present unwarlike opposition to everything connected with Great Britain."

About nine hundred members and guests of the Loyal Orange Lodge and L.O.B.A. took part in the annual church parade held in Ponoka on Sunday last; services being conducted in the United Church by Rev. ### BRITAIN URGED TO CLOSE BARRIERS ON RUSSIAN WHEAT

London, Sept. 15.—A campaign to prevent the admission of Russian wheat into Britain has now been started by the newspaper editors, Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothmere. They want to know why thousands of tons of Russian wheat should be dumped on the British market when Canada has a large surplus from last season stored in her elevators.

"No benefit to British housewives has followed the continual decline in wheat prices in this country through foreign dumping," says Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper, the Daily Express, today, calling for government action to prohibit Soviet grain, while millions of Russian peasants are starving. "Wheat is now fifteen to twenty per cent cheaper than it was six months ago, yet the price of bread has shown no decrease."

BURWASH TELLS OF EXPLORATION TRIP IN ARCTIC

Edmonton, Sept. 16.—Stories of the grim tragedy which befell the Sir John Franklin exploration party were brought to Edmonton Monday, and related by Major L. T. Burwash, Dominion Government explorer. Rendings the veil of mystery in which the final fate of the Sir John Franklin has been shrouded since 1847, Major L. T. Burwash returned to civilization on Monday from the King William's Land and gave to the world the story of the exploration which he carried out in that grim coast during the past month.

Making a pilgrimage in the interests of science, the eminent explorer followed again the bloody trail down which a struggling procession of British seamen stumbled to their death 83 years ago.

The major was taken into the island, most grim and lonely of the Northern Arctic Islands, by a plane, piloted by W. B. Gilbert, of the Western Canadian Airways.

Ottawa will get the first complete details of what was found in that ice-bound coast along which the Franklin expedition wandered after spending two years on ships imprisoned on the ice.

SPECIFIC DUTY ADDED TO USUAL TEXTILE LEVIES

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—The feature of the new tariffs on textiles announced by Premier Bennett in the House of Commons Tuesday is the addition of a specific duty to the ad valorem duties ordinarily applied to these schedules. This specific duty is applicable on cottons, woolsens, silks and other textiles from the yarn to the finished clothing. In many instances there are increases in the ad valorem duties as well, but there are a few exceptions. The clause in the tariff which provided for free yarns, silk fabrics and silk clothing are increased materially. All knitted goods are increased under the general tariff, and socks and stockings under their tariffs.

ANOTHER PLEASED READER

Editor, Wetaskiwin Times.
Dear Sir:
Am inclined to write a few lines regarding your paper which we look forward to as much as to our next issue. I have often noticed in some of your other papers that your dues paid by me have not been paid. I am not going to read about a murder, or a suicide, which it seems occurs here every other day. Instead of news of the coming and going of the Wetaskiwin Times, I am wondering if any of your readers have a photograph of the two public schools, which are discarded? I would like very much to have as a remembrance of the old home town and in return I can send you a picture of Seattle waterfront. Hoping your paper booms for ever.
I remain,
Mr. NELS BERG,

TARIFF CHANGES ARE ANNOUNCED FOR USE TODAY

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—A sweeping upward revision of duties affecting approximately 130 items in the customs tariff of Canada was announced in the House of Commons Tuesday. In his capacity of Minister of Finance, the Hon. R. B. Bennett made the announcement to a crowded chamber. Interest in the statement was intense. The galleries were crowded with interested listeners. On the floor of the chamber members waited with even more eager attention than that which is manifest on an ordinary budget day. It was the first tariff revision of the new Government and important changes were in the air. They did not fail to materialize.

The changes brought down by Mr. Bennett traversed many of the most important groups in the customs tariff. Textiles, clothing, farm machinery, iron and steel, and agricultural products were among the groups affected. In almost every case the revision was upward. In many cases the increases announced were very material. Both specific and ad valorem duties were employed to increase some of the items. It was announced the new rates would become effective today.

One of the striking announcements was that the countervailing duties on farm products which were introduced in the last Dunning budget of the former Government had been removed. Replacing them are duties which almost everywhere are higher than the former rates. For instance the duty on butter is advanced from 4 cents British preference, 6 cents intermediate and 7 cents general tariff to 8 cents, 12 cents and 14 cents. A general upward revision on a list of farm products was announced.

LARGE PAYMENTS PAID BY BRITAIN TO VETERANS HERE

Ottawa, Sept. 16 (Special to The Times).—New people in Canada realize the large amount of money which Great Britain spends each year in payment to Imperial War pensioners in this country, according to Sir Geo. Christy, K.C.B., who was in Ottawa this week visiting the Canadian headquarters of the British Ministry of Pensions.

Sir George stated that a sum between five and six million dollars was paid out each year by the home government to Imperial pensioners and their dependents resident in the Dominion. Canada is the only part of the Empire which has a headquarters for payment and this was rendered necessary by the large number of pensioners.

Some idea of the colossal burden the Motherland is bearing in connection with the post-war care of its veterans can be gauged by the fact that the sum of more than $4,500,000,000 has been spent in war pensions alone since the Armistice. This sum exceeds the whole pre-war national debt of Great Britain. The present expenditure is approximately fifty-three million pounds a year or slightly over a million pounds a week.

There are in Canada and the United States about 1,200 pensioners who are paid from Ottawa, while the total number in receipt of pensions in England and abroad, including dependents, is in excess of 1,250,000. The annual bill for pensions had dropped from $550,000,000 in 1923 to $235,000,000 at the present time. The cost of operations for the Pensions Ministry is only two per cent of the total expenditure.

One of the big phases of the work in the Motherland the care of disabled and sick veterans in the great hospitals, owned by the ministry and in general hospitals. Every class of injury and affliction was handled and wonderful results had been obtained in orthopedic surgery and in the treatment of mental cases. Hundreds of plastic surgery cases, which resulted in horrible disfigurement had been successfully treated and men who had never dared to go abroad were now gainfully employed in congenial occupations.

With favorable weather, threshing will be general in the Wetaskiwin district in a few days.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Third reading was given to the Government bill appropriating $20,000,000 for unemployment in the House of Commons last night. The bill was passed after an amendment moved by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor (Winnipeg North Centre), providing that fair wages be instituted in all works under the fund had been defeated on the first division of the year. The vote stood: For the amendment, 71; against, 109, a majority of 38 for the Government.

The House returned to the proposed appropriation of $20,000,000 to provide work and relief last night. Pursuant to his statement on Friday night, the Prime Minister moved in committee of the whole that an additional clause be inserted in the bill. This provided that "any portion of the said sum of $20,000,000 remaining unexpended or unappropriated for the purposes of this act on March 31, 1931, shall thereupon lapse."

Objection to the term "or unappropriated" was taken by Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, who urged that it be excluded and that something be introduced into the bill to indicate that any further commitments under the Act, remaining after March 31, 1931, should be re-voted in their usual way in the supply bill.

Premier Bennett did not think this feasible, inasmuch as the supply bill was customarily the last measure to be passed at the regular session of Parliament. Where the Government entered into a contract to pay any stated sum on a stated date, that sum must be paid or liable to be paid. Several instances of such omission had occurred and it was in order to safeguard the people against proceedings of that character that the Government preferred to provide for the payment of expenditures already committed. Another factor which inclined the Prime Minister to favor the inclusion of the phrase was that the bill already provided for a report on expenditures within 15 days after the commencement of the next session of Parliament. Such a report would not be available if any further sums had to be made subsequent to that 15-day period.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—In the second division of the session, the new Conservative government was accorded a majority of 54. Division came late last night on an amendment by former Premier Mackenzie King for a six months' hold on the measure to amend the Customs Act in relation to dumping. The vote was 115 nays and 62 ayes. The bill comes up for third reading today.

The division found the government supported by Robert Gardiner, H. E. Spencer, D. M. Kennedy, Alfred Speakman, W. T. Lucas, Milton Campbell, William Irvine and M. Luckovich, of the U.P.A. group, in addition to a W. A. Neill, Independent. Supporting the Opposition amendment were Miss Agnes McPhail, Progressive; J. S. Woodsworth, A. A. Heaps and A. MacInnis, Labor, together with C. G. Coote, U.P.A. Conservative and Liberal party lines stood solid.

The House today may continue with the bill amending the dumping clause of the Customs Act or with amendments to the tariff introduced by the Prime Minister Tuesday afternoon. The former measure now stands for third reading, following defeat of the amendment to give a six months' hold. Should there be no extended debate on the third reading, said the Prime Minister last night, the House will proceed to it, but if any such debate is in prospect then the House will tomorrow go into committee of ways and means on the tariff amendment.

Replying to a question from the leader of the Opposition, Premier Bennett said all the legislation the government proposed to introduce was now before the House.

FILLING THE CELLAR WITH WINTER FOODS

Ventilation is an important factor in keeping fruits and vegetables. The storing of adequate supply of fruits and vegetables throughout the winter provides no extraordinary problems. Experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have some very useful suggestions in this connection.

As a general rule either the old root cellar or house cellar is used. Adequate provision should be made for ventilation through the use of cold air intakes and outlet flues, having valves by which to regulate the movement of air. In connection with the intake flues, care should be taken to prevent "freezing" air entering the cellar. Care should also be taken to exclude all light from the storage cellar.

With apples and pears only the best grade of fruit should be placed in storage and boxes or barrels should be used. The storage should be as such as will insure that the temperature will not fall below freezing point. Around 35 deg. F. with relatively moist temperature is best and should keep the fruit in splendid shape throughout the winter.

For most vegetables the bin with slatted sides and bottom, providing circulation to prevent heating, are desirable. These should be narrow and not too large in size.

Celery keeps best when planted with the roots on in sand on the cellar floor with the plants set closely in rows six to eight inches apart. Cabbage may be treated in the same way as celery but equally good is the slatted tray method, tier above tier, with heads placed two deep on each tray.

Onions require dry storage at a temperature around 34 to 36 deg. F. Squash, vegetable marrow, and pumpkins also require dry storage but they keep best in a warmer temperature, ranging around 65 deg. F.

GOOSE RAISING PAYS

Goose raising does not receive the attention by the community that the business warrants, states A. G. Taylor, B.S.A., poultry expert of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The farm is the natural habitat of the goose; in fact, fact that geese are raised can make goose raising for market a paying proposition. The two great essentials in goose raising are: first, free range, and second, an abundance of green food. On the farm these essentials are always plentiful, and the raising of a flock of geese is one

WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION

Thousands of women—especially those in their "early years"—begin to notice unmistakable signs of stomach trouble.

Sourness, Gas and Bloating follow nearly every meal and shortness of breath, faintness, nausea, and a feeling of oppression or pressure around the heart are regular daily symptoms. This may be due to functional changes, nervousness or overeating—but nine times out of ten, the real cause of the trouble may be traced to Acid Stomach!

This stomach needs an alkaline—something to neutralize the excess acid that is causing the trouble. There is nothing better for this purpose than "Bismarck" Magnesia, obtainable in sealed packages of either powder or tablets from any reliable drug store. Just a little "Bismarck" Magnesia taken in water, after meals, will quickly do away with the gas, bloating and pressure by neutralizing the excess acid. It brings almost instant relief from sourness and pain. This is a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive prescription used by thousands of women who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

meaning by which the farmer can reap a good reward with a very small investment and comparatively little labor. Geese command a good price on the Christmas markets, and the demand is always much greater than the supply.

The most important breeds of geese are the Toulouse, Embden, African, and Chinese. The Toulouse being the heaviest breed, the others maturing at lighter weights in the sequence shown.

The breeding and rearing of geese is a comparatively simple proposition and they are easily fitted for market. Taken out of the pasture when the weather turns sharply cold in the fall the breeders are separated from the flock. Whole corn with plenty of water and grit fed in a clean pen will fatten geese for market in about two weeks.

The raising of a flock of geese is so simple that every farmer should avail himself of the opportunity. The expense is very small, the birds require very little care either winter or summer, they are almost immune from disease, and a gosling once hatched is almost sure to develop. No branch of the farm offers better opportunities, or better returns for the money invested, than does goose raising.

WHERE ARE YOUR CHILDREN?

Where are they? On the streets amidst the rushing traffic—at the level crossing? They must go somewhere after school lets out at four o'clock, for all that pent-up energy is longing to be let loose.

The day is coming, no doubt, when there will be legislation about youngsters running at will in this age of motor-driven vehicles. Then the reproach will be removed that the rate of preventable deaths from auto accidents has increased 50 per cent since 1927.

The Bureau of Statistics shows the figures of death to be 1,294 for the past year and despite all the warnings in the world the rate rises yearly. Not a day passes but we see that some dear child has come to an untimely end and the auto driver is exonerated from all blame—the fault being the child's own. That does not ease the aching heart of the parents, nor stem the grief in the little home circle caused by that vacant high chair.

Mothers must find safe play-places for their offspring, and not leave it to the children to find their own chance. Better turn your flower garden into a playground, than have to send them off to the road itself. One thing all mothers can do, and perhaps this is better done by the fathers—and that is to instill the rules of the road into every last one of them. Safety first should be the daily pledge of the child as he leaves gaily for school.

Many good lessons are taught by the health program of the Junior Red Cross in the branch of the school, amongst which these being stressed more and more the need for preventing sickness by keeping fit and well. Then comes another great lesson—the prevention of fire, and of accident, by taking all reasonable precautions. Your children will benefit by these practical tasks during the Red Cross meetings, therefore all parents are urged to see to it that a Junior Branch is functioning in every little prairie school, no matter how remote. Write to Red Cross, 407 Civic Block, Edmonton, for free literature on Safety First.

ON TIME

Now that the school calls at 9 o'clock every morning, in many a home both city and country, there is a grand and glorious scramble and rush to get the children off on time.

Some boys and girls never do acquire that most valuable of habits—punctuality—and they go through life trying to catch up and never getting there. Looking at lateness from the point of view of the teacher and classroom, it is one of the unpleasant and unpardonable annoyances that take the joy out of the day.

Looking at it from a health standpoint the child with his breakfast bolted and his appetite unsatisfied makes a poor pupil. He starts the day handicapped.

The remedy is a simple one and holds the secret of a life's success. Examine a set of rules of the health game of the Junior Red Cross and it will be seen that one refers to sleeping. Going to bed on time is the key to the situation of being on time at school. This is too valuable a habit to be ignored. Let every mother have a set of health rules in the home. Write for your free copy to Junior Red Cross, Civic Block, Edmonton.

SOME WEDDING CUSTOMS

Why does a bride wear a veil? Why is rice thrown over a bridal couple as they leave the church? Why is the wedding ring put on the fourth finger of the left hand? Why is an old shoe thrown after a married couple as they drive to the station? Why have a wedding cake? The questions are asked and answered in London Anvers.

The veil is but a continuance of the ancient eastern rule that no man save her husband should see a woman's face, and not even him until after the ceremony.

The throwing of rice is another eastern custom. Rice is the staple food in the east, and throwing it symbolized a wish for plenty.

The choice of the fourth finger of the left hand for the ring is an old custom of pagan Rome. It was believed that a nerve went direct from that finger to the heart.

Shoe throwing is another adopted eastern custom. The Oriental bride's father gave an old shoe to the bridegroom as a symbol that he surrendered to him his parental right of beating his daughter.

The wedding cake is Roman in origin. A cake made of flour, salt and water was always eaten by the Roman couples in the presence of the priest. It formed part of the marriage rites.

Behind the question: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" was the accepted belief that a woman was a "chattel," life furniture.

STORING APPLES

It is always cheaper to buy apples by the box, hamper or barrel than it is to buy by the small basket or individual specimen. The reason most people refrain from such purchases is because of the difficulty anticipated in keeping the fruit.

If kept in a cool, damp place, the fall and winter varieties of apples will maintain their qualities unimpaired for long periods of time. Experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have given considerable attention to this phase of the apples marketing problem and express the view that the average householder should have little or no difficulty in maintaining an adequate supply of the king of fruits throughout the year.

When an apple is picked from the tree it is still alive and to be kept in good condition it has to be stored under healthy conditions. When left in the kitchen or stored near a furnace apples will shrivel and dry up, losing much of their fine flavor and quality. The simple expedient of placing them in a cool damp place insures satisfaction over a long period of time.

How To Lose 24 Pounds of Fat

At the Same Time Gain in Physical Vigor and Youthfulness and Swiftly Possess a Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes that Sparkle with Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Evening—morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. Kruschen daily means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system. Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these salts is carried to every part of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Town Planning - in Alberta -

(By Horace L. Seymour, Provincial Director of Town Planning)

Being a series of short articles explanatory of the provisions of the Alberta Town Planning Act and Regulations thereunder.

Disposal of Lands other than by Registered Plans

In a previous article the Regulations governing the subdivision of land were discussed.

After the registration of a subdivision there frequently occurs in the past the splitting up of registered lots by description, resulting in lots of too narrow width for desirable home occupation, or in an undesirable change of frontage. In many instances where a subdivision or townsite has been registered, there is also a tendency for the owner of adjoining lands to sell or lease (generally for the purpose of erecting dwellings) lots of from one half acre up, but to do this by description without survey, and frequently by agreement of sale so that nothing is officially known of the transaction for some time. There has thus often arisen a very undesirable condition with buildings erected without reference to existing subdivision or development and often blocking further desirable development.

Section 43 of the Town Planning Act has been enacted to take care of the above and similar situations. No more than one dwelling is ordinarily legally permitted on any registered parcel (unless used exclusively for agricultural purposes) and new parcels have been created by the survey by description but only under authoritative approval on behalf of the Provincial Town Planning Board. Just what this legislation may mean to the future advantage of the Province can be best realized by a consideration of the many difficulties that have arisen from similar provisions were not made effective or carried out in the past.

BORROWING GRIEF

(By Walt Mason)

I like to see a pretty maid, and when I see her I don't mean, "Pull some hair charms" will be decayed, and she will be a withered crone." Today the damsel is a peach, refreshing to my weary eyes; and he's a piker who will preach the dismal truth that beauty dies. The weather, as I go to press, is all a gloom man can desire; I don't forecast in distress, all kinds of elemental tre. Ere long, the weather may be bleak, with blizzards from their arctic dens, and I may freeze my ears and beak when I go forth to feed the hens. Perhaps there'll be an autumn snow before the wintertime arrives, and I'll be sticking in the mud, with all my nooses, agates and wives. But what of that? Today is fine the breeze is sweet, there is no blast, and it is sinful to repine because such weather may not last. Today I am content to eat, I know full well what comfort means, and I have tripe and butcher's meat, and succotash and lima beans. Perhaps next year the bank may burst in which I have my hard-earned roll, and I'll be thankful for a crust, and for cheap porridge in a bowl. Some fellows always look ahead to such catastrophe as this, and they're so filled with fear and dread they don't enjoy their present bliss. But seldom, seldom have I sighed over any nightmarish they may see; I let the doubtful future slide, the present's good enough for me. Today I'm feeling like a colt, and I am grateful in my heart; tomorrow rheumatism's jolt may rend my ancient thews apart. But, chuckling through my toothless gums, I'm finding sunshine everywhere; I'll wait until tomorrow comes before I start to tear my hair.

RUST RESEARCH

Wheat growers throughout Canada, particularly in the Prairie Provinces, will be interested in the report of the progress of rust research by the Dominion Research Laboratory at Winnipeg. Rust is one of the major problems of the wheat grower at the present time and the report indicates very substantial progress has been made in the development of rust resistant varieties of wheat.

The field studies in epidemiology provides interesting material with respect to the nature and extent of recent rust epidemics and the methods

READ WHAT EDMUND ENGLISH
FOUND OUT ABOUT G. W. G.
STOP-LOSS POCKET OVERALLS

Here is his letter.

Pict., Alberta,
May 8, 1930
The Great Western Garment Co.,
Edmonton, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

I am writing to tell you how your G.W.G. Overalls have saved me time, money and worry since I have been wearing them.

I can recall not many years ago I wore, as well as all the rest of my friends, the ordinary every-day brand of overalls. Whenever any of them saw me wearing a new pair of overalls, they would say, "I am always losing my overalls out of my pocket too." We all agreed that there were many more pairs lost than were worn.

Last Fall I helped operate a combined harvester, and carried with me all the time a six-inch crescent wrench as well as a pair of pliers, carrying both in the stop-loss pocket on the right leg of a pair of G.W.G. overalls. I didn't lose either one all fall, and when working around a combine a man is in fifty different positions every day. A fellow can tighten almost any nut with a wrench and a pair of pliers so when I could carry both right with me without the danger of them slipping out of my pocket, I saved time and consequently made more money. In the summer-time I just wear one pair of overalls and so have to carry my watch in the watch pocket of the overalls. I always used a safety pin to keep the watch pocket closed until I got my first pair of G.W.G. stop-loss pocket overalls. I have never had my watch slip out of that pocket yet, but when a fellow wants it out, he can easily take it out.

G.W.G. overalls are going to be my overalls from now on, the tools I try to carry with me will be with me when I want them.

Yours truly,
EDMUND ENGLISH.

COMMUNICATION

(We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading.—Ed.)

To the Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir:
Re communication, The Weed Menace. Mr. Charles Kerry's article in regards to the Weed Menace is a very timely one, and I believe he has taken a good view of the same, in undertaking to bring it to public attention. The total toll of loss that weeds are taking from the farmers land and crops is getting to be enormous, in far too many cases. I have been here on the farm for the past 19 years, and when I first came in here most of the weeds we have here were new to me. We then had ball mustard, some false flax, wild oats, lamb quarter, it being only a very few years back, and Canada Thistle, and Sow Thistle had made its appearance, also blind nettle, or hemp nettle.

Now, Mr. Editor, this is only my second year as Weed Inspector of the M.D. of Columbia 460. Previously we have had no weed inspector, and from what I've learned during my tour of inspection these last two seasons, it is surprising to know how many are not familiar with and are able to identify the thistle from the others. Now as one farmer put it, "what weed or weeds do you consider the worst?"

Now, how would this be answered? I believe the weed or weeds that is taking the control of the individual farms, is the worst weed as far as that farmer is concerned. But the weed that is the worst menace to the farmer in general is such as the thistle, a perennial that spreads by root and seeds. I might say that I know of two separate farms and fields this fall which show a start of Canada Thistle. There were no thistles on the places previously. Now, where did this start come from? It's not just one little spot of growth started, but a few plants here and there over the entire field. These seeds, I presume, have blown in on the plowed land and for some distance, as there are no established spots of thistle to my knowledge.

I think, Mr. Editor, I can safely say that we have now one of the finest movements to hand, providing we landowners and farmers continue to support it properly, in the whole province alike, and which will, in due course, show good returns.

Our Government, their supervisors, the Municipal Weed Inspectors, can not alone hold down the weed menace. The net return of the amount of grain we raise greatly depends on the freedom of noxious weeds. So it remains for us all to co-operate to the fullest extent in weed control and eradication. Now neighbors, instead of just farming year in and year out, let's figure things out a bit, just to know what would be best to do with this or that field next year and the next.

Be sure to get rid of that spot or so of thistle that has been so persistent. Let's get them out of there, they have been there long enough, and keep a good look out all the time in our fields and farms. Don't look on the Weed Inspector as a menace to our farm operations, as he's on the job in the interests of us all.

LITTLE BLUE BOWLS

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

Remember those low blue bowls that your grandmother used to fill with creamy cottage cheese just after she had finished making it? She would give one to you accompanied by a slice of crusty homemade bread, thickly spread with strawberry jam and tell you to sit quietly on the side porch and eat it while sister Mary was finishing her music lesson. Did cheese ever taste so good as it did then? Perhaps it was the way that grandmother made it; perhaps it was the faltering strains of "The First Waltz" that Mary was rendering on the organ, but I'm sure that the reason for its delectability was partly due to the little blue bowl.

Of course, all of us are not fortunate enough to have the bowls that our grandmothers had (they probably have been given to some spinster aunt who keeps them behind locked doors of the china closet), but there are very good substitutes. The next time you are shopping, purchase for a few cents a set of mixing bowls which can be had in almost any shade of azure that you desire. They are almost unbreakable and handy for the mixing of cakes, cookies and salads. You feel that you are doing something different from the same old thing when you work with dishes of the color about which poets are always singing and artists always raving.

The three smallest bowls may be used conveniently and charmingly for the serving of breakfast cereals to your family. Put some crisp, crunchy cornflakes into a shining bowl, top it with bright berries or sliced golden peaches and note the beaming faces that greet you when you enter the breakfast nook. If you look carefully you may see Goldilocks peeping in at the window and hear her say, "And there's the papa bear with his great big bowl; there's the mamma bear with her in-between bowl and there's the baby bear with his teeny, weeny bowl."

In the winter time when it is Jack Frost who is hanging on your window sill, fill the bowls with steaming hot cereals. A pleasing and healthful combination may be made by adding all-bran to the cooked cereals. Use one-fourth as much all-bran as you have cooked cereal. Serve this for supper with cream and honey some evening before an open fire and watch the reflections which the last glowing embers cast on the blue bowls.

If it is Sunday morning and you want to give the family a treat, make waffles. Take the largest and smallest bowl from your set. Use the large one for mixing and the small one for beating egg whites. It takes no time at all and here is the recipe:

All-Bran Waffles
1½ cups of flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs (separated), 1 cup sweet milk, ½ cup melted shortening, ½ cup Kellogg's All-Bran.

Sift the dry ingredients. Beat the egg yolks and combine with the milk. Add to the dry ingredients and mix well. Add melted shortening and the All-Bran. Add the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron until the mixture ceases to steam.

An interesting variation of the above recipe is a "filled waffle." When ready to bake the waffle put just a little batter in the iron and allow to bake a minute or two without putting the cover down. Take a spoonful of your favorite jam and carefully place it in the centre of the baking waffle. Pour on enough more batter to cover the jam and ever so gently put the cover down and let bake until there is no more steam rising from the iron. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve in the following breakfast:

Honey Dew Melon with lime
Crisp lettuce
All-Bran waffles filled with blackberry jam
Caffeine-free Coffee

GIVEN STIFF SENTENCE.

Seven years in the penitentiary at Prince Albert was the sentence imposed on Edgar Kristensen, absconding teller of the Bank of Montreal at Leduc, by Magistrate Williams on Wednesday morning of last week.

Kristensen pleaded guilty to the charges against him and seemed anxious to know his fate as soon as possible. He was arrested in Calgary while motoring through to the coast from Winnipeg, under the name of T. N. Olsen. After leaving Edmonton on Saturday, August 30, he proceeded to Saskatoon and flew by airplane from there to Moose Jaw where he took the train to Winnipeg.

The actual amount of the defalcation was $8419.54. Kristensen had about $1100 on him when he was arrested and claims that $6000 of the

DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison, and how vital is the need for keeping Zam-Buk, always handy? When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. E. Zealley, daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass leg of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by Zam-Buk, and it healed the sore without leaving a scar."

"Again when I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, Zam-Buk alone saved me. My doctor, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But I again placed my faith in Zam-Buk, and it cleaned and healed the wound." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 60¢ cents per box. Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc.

Owing to the annual harvest festival service being held in the United Church, Millet, on Sunday afternoon, the service in the school house has been cancelled.

The Misses Foster of the Millet teaching staff, were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins.
A number of the residents attended the harvest festival service held in St. John's church, Millet on Sunday afternoon.

PROTECTION FOR MOUTH AND THROAT
Exposure to damp weather, excessive use of voice, or smoking are frequently the source of irritated, raw throats. Unless promptly cared for serious complications often follow.
A gargle of one part Absorbine, Jr. to nine parts water will bring quick relief to the inflamed tissues. And if there is congestion with the infection, as usually happens, break it up at once by rubbing the outside of the throat with a few drops of full-strength Absorbine, Jr.
To sweeten the breath and keep the mouth in a clean, wholesome condition at all times, the daily use of Absorbine, Jr., diluted as a mouth-wash, is ideal. Just a few drops in a little water morning and night. Get a bottle at your druggist's—$1.25.

C.P.R. WEEKLY CROP REPORT

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—Despite unsettled weather over the prairies, harvesting operations are still in advance of average years and cutting is completed with the exception of the comparatively small amount in scattered areas awaiting combines and of the late coarse grains.

The report from J. M. McKay of the Canadian Pacific Railway's department of agriculture describes threshing conditions for the season as ideal, with the exception of the week just past. In the three prairie provinces approximately 67 per cent of wheat is threshed; 60 per cent of oats and 62 per cent of barley, with many points, chiefly in Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan and Alberta reporting operations practically finished.

The rain of the week was welcomed for fall plowing, pastures and surface water supplies, which have become low in many districts. Plowing is in progress in various parts of the country, but would be assisted by still more rain.

Coarse grains vary in grade, but some excellent yields of oats are reported where growing conditions were favorable. On the average, threshing discloses generally satisfactory grades of all grains, with a wide variation in some quarters. Heat and drought, with some rust menace, have left their effects upon some of the late heavy crops in parts of Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan.

The low price of coarse grains is resulting in manifest interest in the purchase of stockers and feeders for winter fattening on many farms, and livestock is kept in good condition with plenty of roughage in grain fields.

In British Columbia, showery have greatly benefitted the apple crop. Wealthy and other early apples are now over the peak and the movement of McIntosh Reds is expected to start next week. Peaches are in strong demand and favorable weather has helped tomatoes and the consequent speeding up of canning.

WARNS STUDENTS OF

UNIVERSITY COSTS

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (Special to The Times).—Canadian students planning to study in colleges and universities abroad should be acquainted with the general costs. Although statistics are not available on the expense attached to study in foreign institutions of higher learning, students are sometimes embarrassed because expenses are higher than they contemplated, hence should be warned in advance.

Because of the popularity of the Medical School of Bristol University, Bristol, England, the dean recently issued a pamphlet stating that in most instances Canadian students are unaware of the costs. He called attention to the fact that total costs there, including tuition, apparatus, materials and maintenance amounts to £1,300, or about $6,500 for the four years.

The average cost of medical education in Canada is about $1,000 annually or $4,000 for the four year course.

VANCOUVER CITY

AIRPORT OPENED

Vancouver, Sept. 15.—Vancouver's new civil airport at Sea Island was officially opened Sunday by Lieut. Governor R. R. Bruce who flew from Victoria for the event. In unveiling the plaque on the administration building, His Honor paid tribute to the foresight of Vancouver's citizens in voting monies for the purchase and development of such an ideal airport site.

Last night Mayor W. H. Malkin switched on the 1,000,000 candle power beacon on top of the Hudson's Bay building, Granville and Georgia streets. An official dinner followed the beacon ceremony.

The beacon is one of the largest of its kind on the Pacific coast and is fog penetrating. It shines directly upon the new airport.

ASTHMA

Asthma means a panting, there is shortness of breath sometimes to the point of extreme distress. Asthma and hay-fever are two similar conditions. When it is the nose that is affected we call it hay-fever, and when the bronchial tubes are involved we say it is asthma.

The condition is frequently due to the sufferer's being hypersensitive to some protein. Proteins are substances such as the white of egg; they form a large percentage of meat and other animal substances and are also present in the pollen of grasses and flowers, in the dandruff emanations from germs also in dust. Bacteria or animals contain proteins.

For reasons which we do not understand, some persons become hypersensitive to one or more kinds of protein. The protein may be breathed in the form of pollen or dust. It may be eaten in food, or it may be present in bacteria which are living in the body.

This explains why some subjects of asthma have an attack if they approach a horse; these individuals are hypersensitive to the emanations from the horse. Another subject has an attack if he uses a feather pillow or sleeps on a horse-hair mattress, and another still, if he eats an egg. The reason is the same in all these cases, a hypersensitive condition to some particular protein.

The treatment of these cases in order to prevent further attacks depends upon finding out first of all whether or not they are hypersensitive to some protein. If a certain protein is found, then it may be possible for the subject to avoid that protein. If eggs are responsible they can be eliminated from the diet and, in the course of time, the hypersensitive condition generally disappears.

It is possible to desensitize the subject for the responsible in certain instances. This is done for those suffering from hay-fever when by means of the necessary tests for hypersensitivity, the pollen responsible has been found.

There is also the group of cases made up chiefly of older persons in which the condition is not due to any hypersensitivity to proteins. Such cases are frequently associated with heart and kidney disease.

The sufferer from hay-fever or asthma should have his physician determine whether or not his condition is due to his being hypersensitive to some protein and if so he may hope for relief either through avoiding the responsible protein or by having himself desensitized.

Question concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.
